Raul Aliste is a partner at European VC firm Index Ventures, previously worked for Skype, co-founded Video Island and is a founder of Seedcamp. In this guest post he responds to recent posts by TechCrunch UK writer Paul Carr regarding the position of London as a startup hub.

I'm singing in the rain
 Just singing in the rain
 What a glorious feeling
 I'm happy again
 I'm laughing at clouds
 So dark up above
 The sun's in my heart
 And I'm ready for love
 - Lyrics Arthur Freed, music Nacio Brown Brown later moves Gene Kelly

It seems that I cannot find a single London startup that has exceeded $10m in annual revenues. I'm not sure if this is because I'm looking at the wrong data or if it's because London is not a startup hub.
